

Why it is a mortal sin?

(21 April 2025)

Thai people who are drug-sellers entice foreign people to sell drugs by a question “We get much money from selling drugs, so why it is a mortal sin?”

Think twice;

Are there any kinds of drugs which do not destroy brains and bodies of people who take it, along with do not gradually kill the people who take it? ... “Nothing”, right?

So, drugs are the goods that are different from other consuming goods, right?

No merchant and no businessman want sales of their goods to be stable or to be reduced, right?

And an important truth is from the Aesop’s fable “The Goose with The Golden Egg”. The fable shows one of the human’s natures which is that if he gets money from something, he will want to get money from the thing more and more, right?

So, if you were a drug-seller and if you who are a human did not want sales of your drugs to be stable or to be reduced, what would you do? ... You would find formulas of the drugs which your target groups would permanently addict it, and wanted to retake it more and more, right?

And for natures of drugs and natures of drug-addicts, after the drug-addicts addicted drugs, sooner or later, they will want to retake the drugs more and more until “overdose”, right?

Which kind of drugs which people who take it overdose can be still alive?

For every kind of drugs, if people take it overdose, the people will die, right?

So, what will happen to people who are drug-addicts and your “permanent customers”?

This is a main reason why morphine is let for using for only medical purposes and must be used under doctors’ instructions.

And I had a chance to read an article which told readers “Some states of the US where have strong legislations and strong law enforcements do not let marihuana legal because they know that marihuana has more harmful than benefits!”

Because every kind of drugs destroys brains and bodies of people who take it, along with gradually kills the people who take it, and if people who take drugs take it overdose, their lives will be in the end, so why drug-sellers are not “time bomb murderers”?

Every Prophet teaches “Do not kill any lives that are innocent” and “Killing the lives that are innocent is a mortal sin”, right?

But what else is an action of “the time bomb murderers”?

So that, could you figure out why selling drugs is a mortal sin?
